Notes

While you can submit OHIP codes and claims to Quebec the RAMQ will pay Ontario physicians the lesser of either the claimed OHIP fee or the Quebec equivalent. In most cases it is to your advantage to remember to charge the equivalent RAMQ code for office visits which currently pay better than A007. For most hospital and procedural work RAMQ pays less, and it may not matter if you use an OHIP code but the chart will at least give you an idea of what RAMQ should pay.

- 8877 you can bill an additional $7 for a pediatric exam. You are allowed 7 per year for children 0 - 15 mos and one per year for children 16-63 months.
- *K990, K992, K994 and K996 only as in Quebec subsequent patients are billed in the 1505x series
- To claim the VBAC supplement 6923 you must provide the date of the previous caesarean
- 8902 or 8931 require a full psychiatric evaluation, 45 min time and can be billed once a year otherwise use 8901 and 8930

This is just a quick reference, for full details of all the RAMQ codes and their use and associated restrictions consult <http://www.ramq.gouv.qc.ca/fr/professionnels/medomni/manuel/man100.shtml>
